Short bio

Victoria Kalogirou is a Policy and Programme Manager for EU policies and a Seconded National Expert at the European Commission's Directorate-General for Informatics (Interoperability Unit). She works in several actions for interoperability and digital transformation. She has substantial working and research experience in the area of e-Government and interoperability. As an official in the Greek Ministry of Administrative Reform and e-Governance, she was an ICT Policy Officer and Project Manager, where she collaborated with National, Regional and European public administrations and policy makers. She was involved and coordinated several CIP and FP7 Large Scale Pilots and participated in actions for implementation of digital government and innovation in the public sector. Victoria, holds a M.Sc. in Technology Education and Digital Systems, eLearning track from the Department of Digital Systems University of Piraeus, Greece, a MEng in Engineering in Science, from the Department of Information and Communication Systems Engineering University of the Aegean, Greece and a BSc. in Information Technology from the Hellenic Open University. She is a researcher at Digital Governance Research Centre, Department of Information and Communication Systems Engineering University of the Aegean.

LinkedIn https://www.linkedin.com/in/vickalogirou/

Twitter https://twitter.com/vickalogirou